Yathrakal.com is an attempt to bring together a collection of various Malayalam Travelogues that are lying scattered in cyberspace under a common umbrella. It is the brain child of a group of Malayalam Bloggers who are passionate about travelling and sharing their travel experiences with a wider community.

This website is the first of its kind in Malayalam. It serves as a catalogue of Travel Blogs and are classified under three main heads , namely Kerala, India and Abroad. While the travelogues of Kerala have been categorised into districts, India is categorised into states and those from abroad have been listed country wise.

It is our earnest vision to take this site forward as one which will be useful as a ready reckoner as well as be loved by all Travellers for its immense wealth of information and experiences. We request you to contribute your travelogues to be published in the site and to extend your whole hearted support to this endeavor.

This site is just for you ..it offers a platform for the traveller in you ..and we celebrate these travels in your name.

Yours sincerely
